STATE COLLEGE, Pa., Sept. 10.—(AP)—The Pennsylvania State Board of Education today announced that it had approved the new state curriculum for the 1969-70 school year. The board, which meets in Harrisburg, said the new curriculum was developed by the state's teachers and was designed to provide a more comprehensive and balanced education for all students. The curriculum covers a wide range of subjects, including mathematics, science, social studies, and language arts. It also includes provisions for physical education, art, and music. The board said that the new curriculum would be implemented in the fall of 1969. It also said that it would continue to monitor the implementation of the curriculum and make any necessary adjustments. The board's decision was based on a series of hearings and public consultations that took place over the past several months. The board said that it was pleased with the response to the new curriculum and believed that it would provide a high-quality education for all students in Pennsylvania. The board's decision was subject to approval by the state legislature. The board said that it would continue to work with the legislature to ensure that the new curriculum was properly implemented. The board also said that it would continue to work with the state's teachers and parents to ensure that the new curriculum was properly understood and supported. The board's decision was a significant step in the process of developing a new state curriculum for Pennsylvania. It was a process that had been underway for several years and had involved a wide range of stakeholders. The board said that it was proud of the work that had been done and believed that the new curriculum would be a significant improvement over the old one. The board also said that it would continue to work on improving the state's education system and ensuring that all students have access to a high-quality education. The board's decision was a testament to the commitment of the state's educators and parents to providing the best possible education for their children.
